FIREMAN GIVES CHASE:
'Friendly' Bandit Takes $290 In Station Stickup
16-YEAR-OLD FLEED UP AT VOIGHT OIL CO; FLEEING ROBBER'S CAR LOST IN TRAFFIC
By ALLEN EDEE
Star Staff Writer
A friendly but armed robber took up the Voight Oil Co. at 3101 Adams Friday night and held between $290 and $350 in cash from a 16-year-old service attendant.
The hold-up occurred at 10:30 p.m. just a few minutes after two other service station attendants had gone up the road for a cup of coffee.
As the armed man was walking back to his get-away car, fireman John Reis, 24, of 2310 So. 50th drove into the station. He heard the attendant yell "I've been robbed," spun his car around and took off after the fleeing car, which also had a woman passenger.
Reis said he lost the car in traffic.
Clinton Condon, 16, of 6128 Ballard, said the armed man first drove up to the station and asked the way to Council Bluffs.
He drove off and returned a few minutes later and parked his car at the west end of the station drive.
Condon was just outside the door of the station when the man whipped out a glinting blue steel snub-nosed automatic.
"Have you even been stuck up before, kid?" The man asked the youth.
Condon said he was "pretty scared."
Slim And 35
The attendant said he thought the robber was slim and about 35 years old.
Condon said the armed robber told him he was "pretty hard up and I have to have this."
The unmasked man, dressed in unpressed brown pants and a light short-sleeved nylon shirt, told Condon to unlock the money drawer.
The youth took out a sack full of money and gave it to the robber. The sack was stamped "First National Bank."
Condon said the man told him to lock the drawer up again.
"He took about $30 or $40 from my pocket," the attendant said.
"Then he asked me if I had a pair of pliers and if there was only one telephone in the station."
"I told him I didn't have any pliers," Condon said, "and the guy left."
Not Threatened
Condon said he was not threatened or harmed.
"He talked to me about five or ten minutes," the youth said, "but it seemed like three hours."
"He didn't touch a thing," Condon said, "and he didn't act excited."
"Even when the car drove up that chased him," Condon said, "the man walked calmly back to his car."
As soon as the man had left with fireman Reis in hot pursuit, Condon said he called police. He told them that the get-away car was dark colored.
Police, county lawmen and state patrolmen all were participating in the search for the robber.
Condon said the car went west on Highway 6 bearing an out-of-state license, 87-550.
The State Highway Patrol immediately set up road blocks around Exeter on Highway 6.
Drink Puts Boy, 2, In Hospital
Two-year-old Mark Geary of 117 D. Haskerville, drank a cleaning solvent or gasoline from a bottle in a pop rack, police said.
The child, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joy Geary, was reported in "good condition" early Saturday morning by attendants at St. Elizabeth's Hospital.
He was rushed to the hospital, where his stomach was pumped.

Pilger Twister Moves House 50 Feet
This farm home of Mrs. Frank Glover, four miles north of Pilger, was moved 50 feet by one of several twisters that hit the northeast Nebraska area. Mrs. Glover, her five children and her mother, Mrs. Emma Gemelke, sought refuge in a storm cave and escaped injury. Northwest of Pilger, near Winslow, another tornado took the life of Mrs. Bertha Nelson, 67, when the twister struck the Nelson farm home. Story appears on page 6. (AP Wirephoto)

Hannah Asks Draft To Bolster Reserves
3 Million-Man Pool Of Trained Fighters Wanted—In Case Of War
QUANTICO, Va. (AP)—The Defense Department's manpower chief presented Friday a plan to draft men into the reserves to create a 3,000,000-man pool of trained fighters ready to go in case of war.
John M. Hannah, assistant secretary of defense for manpower, explained the plan to the nation's civilian and military defense leaders, holding their annual meeting here on current and long-range strategy.
The proposal seemed to be closely akin to universal military training, toward which Congress has been cool.
Hannah said the proposal has been handed to the White House and is under consideration by the National Security Council. But there is doubt that the present session of Congress will receive actual legislation on the controversial subject in time for any consideration before adjournment this summer.
Lacks Penalties
Hannah noted that the current draft law is intended to revitalize the reserve program by requiring that each enlistee or inductee have periods of obligated reserve training after completion of active duty—a provision which lacks penalties for failure to comply.
"The trouble is, the plan doesn't work," Hannah said. Of hundreds of thousands of veterans on the reserve list, only a few continue to train, he added.
The new proposal, as outlined by Hannah:
1. Men would be drafted to meet requirements of the reserve units of the Army, Navy, Marines and Air Force.
2. Induction of men into this compulsory reserve "might well be done by lot by the local draft boards," selection being made at the time a man becomes liable for military service, at 18½ years.
3. There would be two categories of reservists:
(A) A "first line reserve" made up of individuals and units undergoing training and immediately available for duty in an emergency; (B) the "selective call reserve," a pool of men with special military experience whose special skills as technicians would be needed in sudden mobilization.
4. In general, reserve draftees would get four months active duty training, then be obligated for reserve training for seven years and eight months—a total of eight years also would be sought, said Hannah, to enforce the requirement that men take part in training with units to which they are assigned.
Hannah thought "This plan appears to have tremendous potential in solving the problem of compelling reservists to drill."
The plan "contemplates the continuation of selective service—the draft—for an indefinite period," Hannah said.

Anti-Reds Strike By Land, Air, Sea
Rightists Attack With Avowed Purpose Of Ousting Red-Tinged Government

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (AP)—An anti-Communist "Liberation Army" bombed and invaded Guatemala Friday in a fiery bid to overthrow the Red-infiltrated government of President Jacobo Arbenz Guzman.
The invading forces, commanded by exiled Guatemalan Col. Carlos Castillo Armas, were reported landing Friday night at two seaports and two inland cities.
Fierce fighting was reported in progress between the invaders and Arbenz troops at Puerto Barrios, the big east coast fruit shipping center, and San Jose, Pacific Naval Air Base and commercial port.

Troops were landed after planes had bombed the two places, it was reported.
Fighting was raging at the two inland towns of Retalhuleu, near the Mexican border, and Zapapa, near the Honduran border. These towns, too, were bombed, along with the capital city, before troops invaded, rebel spokesmen said.
Rebel Uprisings
Washington reports said serious internal uprisings also had occurred at three places, including Puerto Barrios and Zapapa.
The outbreak of the long-brewing revolution to unseat a regime feared was creating a beachhead range of the Panama Canal, was announced here by a spokesman of Col. Castillo.
In Guatemala Foreign Minister Guillermo Toriello also confirmed that "The Battle for Guatemala" had broken out.
Col. Castillo long has been known here as the No. 1 exile in opposition to the Arbenz regime. Castillo himself apparently had gone to the front.
Castillo's spokesman said the attacks had been launched at: San Jose, Guatemala's biggest air and naval base.
Guatemala City, the capital.
Puerto Barrios, the big fruit shipping port on the east coast.
Zapapa, 75 miles east of Guatemala City.
Retalhuleu, near the Mexican border.
The Guatemalan ambassador said he had heard, too, that bombs dropped on Guatemala City smashed the presidential guard barracks, the office of the chief of armed forces, and Army Headquarters.

GUATEMALA BATTLE BEGINS
Foreign Minister Guillermo Toriello of Guatemala told a news conference "the battle of Guatemala has begun" and said unidentified planes had bombed oil storage tanks at San Jose (underlined). He added that troops were poised on Honduran border (arrow) ready to invade his country. (Later reports from Honduras said the invasion had begun.) Heavily armed troops were said to have sailed from Hog Island (underlined), off north coast of Honduras, for an invasion of Puerto Barrios, Guatemala. (AP Wirephoto.)

WASHINGTON ADVISED
The State Department in Washington announced it had received reports of "serious uprisings" of Guatemalans in Puerto Barrios, Quetzaltenango, 70 miles west of Guatemala, and Zapapa, 75 miles east of Guatemala.
The rebels' spokesman indicated the first reports chiefly concerned bombing attacks, but he indicated ground and sea forces also were in motion by announcing that the first "invasion communique" would be issued later in the night.
The spokesman said Col. Castillo's "forces of liberation" had dropped fire bombs on the big gasoline storage depot at San Jose, on the Pacific Coast, which was used by the United States during World War II as a long range patrol bomber base, and at Retalhuleu and on targets in Guatemala City.
Amadeo Chinchillas, Guatemalan ambassador here, said he had heard that a bomb hit Army Headquarters in Guatemala City, another smashed the office of the chief of the armed forces and another blew up the presidential guard barracks.

Puerto Barrios Falls
NEW YORK (AP)—The National Broadcasting Company said Friday night its correspondent in Tegucigalpa, Honduras, had telephoned that Puerto Barrios, Guatemala, had fallen to anti-Communist forces.
The NBC said its correspondent added that defenders of the important north coast Guatemalan port were fleeing.
The planes were of unidentified nationality.
He declared, however, that an army of Guatemalan exiles, and nationalists from the Dominican Republic, Cuba and other Central American republics was poised on the border, and that the Nicaraguan government was giving them support.
Earlier, the Guatemalan Radio, heard here, reported that two planes flew over the National Palace and dropped leaflets warning anti-Communists to put an immediate halt to war preparations on Guatemala's border.

MISS IS CLAIMED
Roberto Alvarado Fuentes, Guatemalan Ambassador in Mexico City, declared, however, that bombs missed their targets at all these places.
There was no indication of how many planes were taking part in the air operation.
For days the forces of Col. Castillo have been openly mobilizing here and moving by air-lift and other transport toward the Guatemalan border. They were clad in khaki uniforms without insignia, but at least some of them carried arms.
Some reports said about 5,000 were thus assembled.
Reports to New York from Central American sources said one body of heavily armed men had sailed from Hog Island off Tela on the Honduran north coast, for Puerto Barrios.
Thinly Defended
Puerto Barrios was reported thinly defended by Guatemalan forces because heavy rains had cut rail communications for several days.
In Guatemala City, Foreign Minister Guillermo Toriello grimly confirmed to a news conference that "the battle of Guatemala" has begun.
But he told only of the bombing attack at San Jose. He said

'CRUEL THIEF' STEALS MAN'S FALSE TEETH
A Lincoln man of modest means is out a $75 pair of false teeth—evidently as the result of juvenile maliciousness.
Harry Thompson, a laborer who lives in a trailer park at 2230 West O, reported that the teeth were taken while he was working near the municipal swimming pool at 22nd and N.
"There were a bunch of teenagers boys playing at the large tower where I put my lunch pail," he said, "and when I returned in the evening from work, everything was gone."
After a long search he found his thermos jug floating in Antelope Creek but could not locate the aluminum-colored lunch pail or the teeth that were in it.
Looking sad and puzzled, Thompson remarked, "I don't know who would take the teeth. They're valuable to anyone but me." He said that anyone finding the set could call him at 5-8160.

Berg Seeks Re-Election As Treasurer
Carl E. Berg, treasurer of Lancaster County, has filed for reelection on the Republican ticket.
Berg, completing five full terms as treasurer, was appointed treasurer in 1936 and was elected to an unexpired term in 1938.
In filing, Berg said he believed his experience with the many duties and detailed work of the office qualified him to file for another term.
This year approximately $15 million will be received and disbursed by my office," Berg said. An annual audit of accounts is made by the state auditor's office.
A life-long resident, Berg, 62, was educated in the Waverly schools and a Lincoln business college.
He is a member of the Scottish Rite, Shrine, Lincoln Optimist Club, and Norcen Club. He is married and lives at 1528 G.

Post Office 'New Look' Scheduled
The Federal Court room and other offices in Lincoln Post Office building are going to have a new look because of remodeling and redecorating work under way.
Aluminum grid acoustics are to be installed in the courtroom, and a 24-foot ceiling lowered to 20 feet. A new jury box and witness stand are to be relocated from the east to west side of the room and the big east windows are to be closed and soundproofed, to eliminate interfering street noises.
Other items under a contract awarded the Bert W. Newsom Co., Des Moines, Ia., include remodeling, new lighting and painting for the west portion of the fourth floor.
The agricultural marketing service, second floor, is to have new lighting, same improvement for official chambers and finance section, main floor.
Bert Newsome, who said the job would probably be completed in 60 to 70 days, estimated the overall cost at $25,000.
Next week, the Kingery Construction Company, Lincoln, will put in new ceilings and acoustics in the social security sector, second floor. This work is estimated at $2,500.

Floods Smash Northwest Iowa
DES MOINES (AP)—Torrential rains, measuring up to an unofficial 10 inches, threatened northwest Iowa Friday night with a repeat of last year's floods which took 14 lives.
Rain-swollen creeks and rivers leaped out of their banks, flooding lowlands and highland towns and endangering several small towns.
The rains, which started Thursday night, continued most of Friday in sections north of a line from Sioux City to Dubuque. Highest official rainfall recorded was 8.57 inches at Britt. The weather bureau here said 3 to 6 inches of rain fell generally over the northwest and north central sections.
Unofficial readings ranged up to 10 inches on a rain gauge at Woden, northwest of Britt in Hancock County.

5 Yanks Feared Held By Indo-China Reds

...G.I.s Disappear On Beach Tour

SAIGON, Indo-China (AP)—U. S. and French officials feared Friday that five American Air Force technicians who disappeared on a pleasure foray to the China Sea shore are now in Communist hands.

The five men, posted at the French Air Force's Tourane Base 450 miles north of Saigon, drove off in a 3-ton French weapons carrier truck Monday in the direction of an off-limits beach three miles away.

A U. S. Embassy spokesman said a Vietnamese peasant had told of seeing five Americans marching with 20 Senegalese war prisoners near the Communist stronghold of Faifo, 10 miles south of Tourane.

YANKS IDENTIFIED

The Defense Department Friday night identified the five Americans. They are:

Army
Pfc Donald E. Morgan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Morgan, Flint, Mich.
Pfc Leonard R. Sroufek, wife Mrs. Beverly L. Sroufek, Chicago.

Air Force
Airman 2/c Ciro Salas Jr., son of Ciro Salas Sr., Los Angeles, Calif.
Airman 3/c Giacomo Appice, brother Vito Appice, Elizabeth, N.J.

Airman 3/c Jerry Schuller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Schuller, Cleveland, Ohio.

Headed by Lt. John W. O'Daniel, chief of the armed forces mission in Indo-China, a three man Air Force inquiry board began examining witnesses. The French sent out armed patrols around Tourane and scouted the area with aircraft. They found neither the men nor the truck.

Vietnamese villagers reported that the men, who left their posts without passes, spent some time on a beach with their rifles at their feet. They were seen to be looking for quick and easy riches, this is a poor time to get into the commercial fishing business on this stretch of the Missouri River.

That is the opinion of those fishermen who have watched the business come upon slim times in recent years. One of these veterans of Missouri fishing, Medford James, declares that the fishing has been falling off rapidly since 1944.

It has come to the point now where James calls one pound of catfish and 10 pounds of carp a good average day's catch. James, who has been a fisherman for 28 years, has made enough at the business to buy a

Town Barred

Only an occasional movie or carefully-guarded Sunday swim party at the shore breaks the monotony of life at the Tourane base. The heat often passes 100 degrees as the men work repairing American B-26 bombers.

The town of Tourane, with a population of 50,000, a single hotel, and few amusement facilities, is generally barred by military order to the airmen except on Sundays.

Communist-led Vietnamese battalions roam the mountains surrounding the air base. Men at the base can often hear artillery fire at night as French and Vietnamese units fight it out.

3 Wells Out:

Pawnee City Water Supply Is Restricted

Lincoln Star Special

PAWNEE CITY, Neb.—The high water from the flooding Nemaha River has severely restricted the local water supply.

A spokesman at the Pawnee City Water Department said here that three of the five city water wells have been temporarily put out of service by the muddy water.

"We hope," he said, "that we will be able to get those three going again in three or four more days." He explained that the muddy wells would have to be thoroughly cleaned out and treated before they could go back to pumping for the city.

Not Too Good

Meanwhile, the city is depending upon two wells. The present water storage situation in Pawnee City, the spokesman said, "is not too good." However, he added, the rains have helped reduce water consumption by making such things as lawn watering unnecessary. "We hope we can get by until all the wells are going again," he said.

He said he did not know whether it would be necessary to take city water from another source and have it treated by a hypochlorinator. Through a civil defense official, the city has inquired about borrowing the Beatrice chlorinating device.

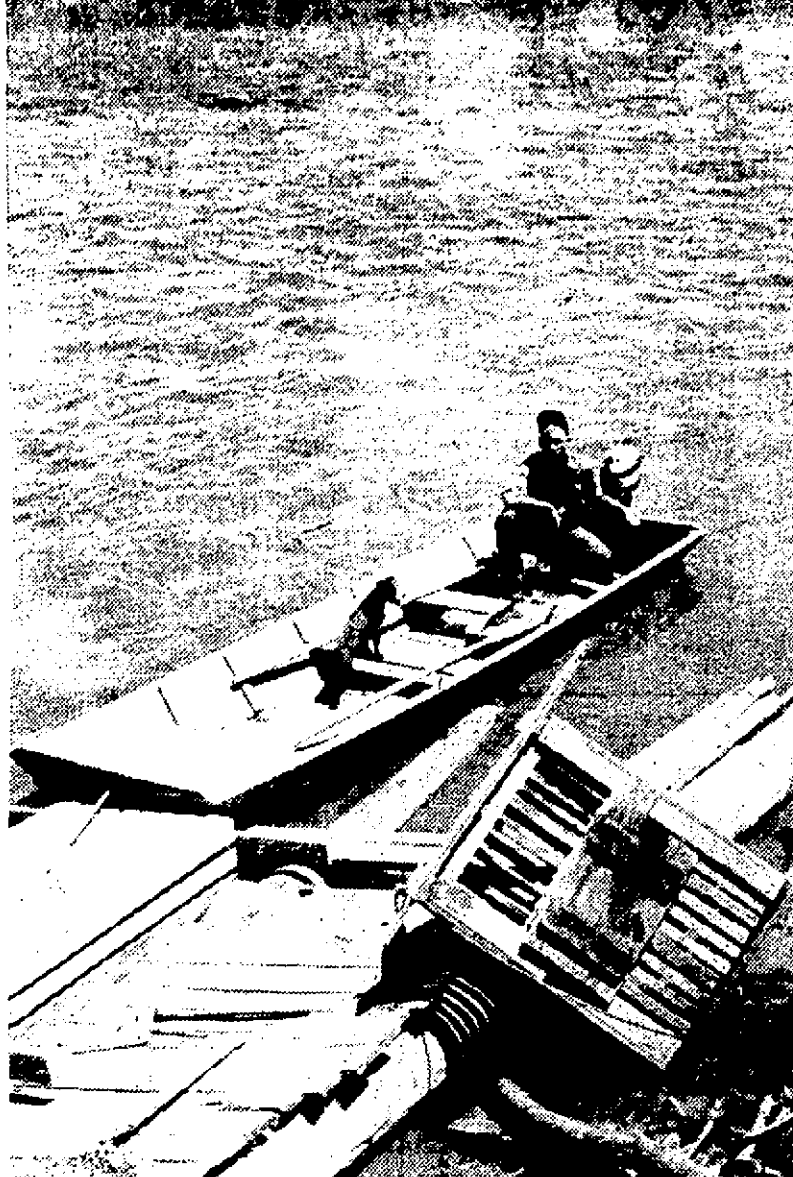

It's what others have said...

FISHING FOR A LIVING NOT SO HOT

By JOHN SWANSON

NEBRASKA CITY, Neb.—If you are looking for quick and easy riches, this is a poor time to get into the commercial fishing business on this stretch of the Missouri River.

Southeast Weather Outlook Better

Southeast Nebraskans breathed a little easier early Saturday morning as the Friday night threat of thunderstorms passed and the surging waters continued to recede.

The forecaster said that only widely scattered thunderstorms would occur in the state Saturday, and those in the northeast. No rain fell along the Nemaha and Blue River areas during the night, it was reported early Saturday morning.

The Nemaha, which sent its waters spreading over thousands of acres of rich bottomland, was back in its banks Friday. The same was true of troublesome creeks which feed the Nemaha. The Blue River, after an earlier decline, was reported edging toward the flood stage in the Beatrice area.

The Blue at Beatrice stood at the 15 foot level, just one foot below the flood stage. Observers there saw no danger from the slowly rising river unless more rains fell on the upstream Blue River Valley.

The Big Blue spilled over its banks at Crete Friday and a second crest was expected there Saturday. However, only lowland area was threatened.

At Seward, still further upstream, Lincoln Creek rose a total of 12 feet in the last two days. With this creek spilling into the Blue, the river was forced out of its banks in some places. No damage was reported, however.

Indian Creek near Beatrice went out of its banks earlier but was back in its banks and dropping steadily late Friday.

In the extreme southeast area, around Falls City and Auburn, the Nemaha River was back in its banks in all but a few localities. The level of the river was reported dropping steadily and rapidly-drying country roads were bringing life along the bottomland back to normal. The big problem now will be faced by farmers who must decide what to do with muddy and silted fields. Even where the corn was not killed by high water, one observer said, the weeds in the muddy fields are likely to get a dangerous head start long before the fields will be dry enough for cultivating.

Shakeup Of Staff Is Urged

McCarthy Committee—

Joe Fires Back: 'Demos Are Being Dishonest'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Three Democrats in the McCarthy Army controversy suggested today a house-cleaning may be in order for the staff of the Senate investigations Subcommittee headed by Sen. McCarthy and McCarthy fired back that they were being "clever, dishonest and extremely dangerous to the country."

Sen. McClellan (D-Ark) was the Democrats' spokesman in the extra-inning quarrel that carried past the formal end of the 36-day televised inquiry into the row between McCarthy and officials of the Army.

Fire Is Stoked

McClellan stoked the fire at a news conference, saying:

1. The Eisenhower administration should consider at once a Justice Department inquiry to determine "if perjury has been committed" in the conflicting testimony at the hearings.

2. The administration should consider "the possibility of a crime having been committed" in connection with McCarthy's possession of a 2 1/2 page letter containing secret FBI information on Red infiltration of the Army.

3. The White House must decide "what action should be taken against the members of the executive branch of the government who were principals." The Army principals were Secretary Stevens, Army Counselor John Adams and, for a time, H. Struve Hensel.

4. The Democrats will oppose any further hearings by the McCarthy Subcommittee until it has dealt with what he described as the failure of two staff members to get security clearance to handle secret papers and the alleged efforts by staffers to intimidate senators during the hearings. McClellan called for a fast decision on whether an "immediate house-cleaning" is needed.

He Gets Support

Sens. Symington (D-Mo) and Jackson (D-Wash.) backed McClellan up. McCarthy came out fighting. Told of what he had said, he declared the Democrats have thereby "notified everybody who considers working for the committee that he'll be smeared from hell to breakfast. It is clever, dishonest and extremely dangerous to the country."

He said it looks like "a deliberate attack on the staff to immobilize" its work and in line with what he has called his critics' purpose "to keep us from exposing Communists."

"The Democratic Party is panic-stricken," McCarthy said, "when we start to expose some of the things that have been going on over the past 20 years, and they may well be."

He said he did not know of any staff member who had been refused a security clearance, that nothing has been produced that "would cause me to doubt the complete loyalty of any staff members... We've got the most efficient, loyal hardworking staff we could possibly get."

County Streams Back To Normal

Lancaster County streams dropped back to normal Friday leaving only some water in low lying areas.

All highways and main roads in the county were reported open by the State Safety Patrol.

Water had crossed roads near Hickman, Roca and Saltillo, but waters from Middle Creek and Haines Branch had returned to their banks.

Salt Creek near Lincoln, cresting at nearly 12 feet, dropped back to 6.3 feet Friday. Flood stage is measured at 20 feet.

The Lincoln Telephone and Telegraph Company reported all telephone lines, damaged by Wednesday's torrential rains and winds, have been repaired.

Senate Unit Sends $1 Billion Tax Cut Bill To Floor

.. Demos May Offer New Amendments

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Finance Committee voted late Friday to send to the floor an omnibus tax revision bill carrying $1,477,000,000 in reductions for corporations and individuals in its first year of operation.

The measure is almost exactly in the form asked by President Eisenhower and carries practically all of the major provisions of the House bill. It is one of the must items on the administration's 1954 legislative program.

No votes were recorded against the bill but Democratic committee members reserved the right to offer amendments on the floor to cut individual income taxes. The bill does not contain any general reductions in such levies. Nearly all of the changes made by the Senate committee in the House bill in six weeks of secret voting were confirmed by the group in its final action Friday. These added up to 107 million dollars more of tax reductions in the first year of operation of the bill than the $1,370,000,000 approved by the House.

Administration Push—However, the $1,477,000,000 of reductions would be offset in the initial year by $1,260,000,000 in additional revenues obtained from a one-year extension of the 52 percent corporate income tax rate. Without the extension, the rate would drop to 47 percent.

Chairman Milliken (R-Colo.) of the Finance Committee said the bill might come up on the floor late next week. The administration is pushing for quick action on the measure. Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey says that many business firms are holding up expansion or modernization plans, awaiting final action on the tax revision.

The bill carries a variety of benefits for corporations and individuals. Humphrey asserts these are evenly balanced.

Some Democrats have argued, however, that the measure is weighted unfairly with relief for big corporations and wealthy individuals.

The Finance Committee, in its final day of work on the bill Friday, made two major changes in tentative decisions which it had voted earlier.

One of these was to knock out of the bill a 50 million dollar benefit for unmarried single persons who are heads of families, such as a widow or widower or a single person with close dependent relatives.

The other change was to write to permit employees covered by health and accident plans to get tax exemption on payments made by them for loss of wages up to $100 a week after the first seven days of work, as well as exemption on payments reimbursing them for medical expenses.

Major provisions in the bill include: accelerated depreciation allowances for corporations and individuals; substantial relief for stockholders on their dividend income; increased deductions for medical expenses; increased tax exemption on retirement income; permission for fathers to keep the $600 exemption for a child going to high school and college even though the child earns more than $600 a year; increased deductions for farmers for soil conservation expenses; a change in the annual income tax filing date from March 15 to April 15; an increase in deductions for charitable contributions; deductions for child care expenses by working mothers.

Shucks, Officer, I Told 'Em I Am Buffalo Bill

RED CLOUD, Neb. (AP)—A patient from the Hastings State Hospital was apprehended near Cora, Kan., Thursday after an all-night ride of 40 miles on a horse stolen late Wednesday night from the Albert Jesska farm, two miles south of Blue Hill.

Webster County Sheriff George Stokes and his deputy, Willard Crowell, with the help of Smith County, Kan., authorities, tracked the horse for the 40 miles distance before apprehending the man.

Webster County Attorney Clifford Phillips said no charges would be filed against the 30-year-old patient. He was returned to the hospital.

Dr. G. Lee Sandritter, hospital superintendent, said it has not been determined how the patient made his way to the Jesska farm more than 20 miles from the hospital.

'Ah, Wall Street'

NEW YORK (AP)—a visiting Russian chess team Friday got their first glimpse of Wall Street—that old bugaboo of Moscow—and, breathing deeply, they chorused significantly: "Ah, Wall Street."

They visited the mecca of capitalism during a sightseeing tour that also included a trip to the top of the Empire State Building. The 14-man entourage had a day off from their international match with an American chess team. It is the first time the Russian team has visited this country.

Driving Reaction Tested

Driver Testing Bus Demonstration Scheduled Here

A new type driver testing bus will be demonstrated at the Saturday meeting of the governor's Traffic Safety Congress executive committee.

The bus, a product of the Transit Casualty Co., St. Louis, Mo., is in Lincoln for the testing of drivers of Lincoln City Lines coaches. Costing over $40,000 to manufacture, the bus has traveled more than 12,000 miles since placed in commission last November.

More than 30,000 persons have gone through the bus to view and take part in the many testing machines it carries. In place of seats in the bus are devices for testing the reaction time of drivers, hearing and sight and a question and answer machine on safe driving.

The governor's committee, besides going through the special bus, is expected to make recommendations on what the various interest groups represented in the committee can do toward greater highway safety.

New Salt Creek Channel Praised

The board of directors of Sanitary District 1 had praise at its last meeting for the district's new Salt Creek Channel from 10th to 14th.

All board members had viewed the operation of the new channel during the week's heavy rain period. It was reported that the high water has scoured out the channel to a considerable extent.

With the new channel now in good condition, board members speculated that the county might soon fill in the old channel to grade level and proceed with construction of a new right-of-way for 14th over the old channel bed.

16 Miners Killed

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP)—A pit wall in Yugoslavia's biggest coal mine collapsed, crushing 16 miners to death in the country's second mine disaster of the week.

Nine miners perished Wednesday when an explosion rocked the Omazic Pit in the west Yugoslav town of Tuzla.

The new disaster, reported by radio Belgrade, occurred in the Ugljevic Pit near Tuzla. Flash floods, caused by a series of violent rainstorms, were blamed for both accidents.

Sidney Grain Elevator Vote Is Scheduled

SIDNEY, Neb. (AP)—Stockholders of the Farmers Coop Grain Co. of Sidney will vote next Thursday on a proposal to build a $160,000 grain elevator here.

The proposed elevator would have a capacity of at least 250,000 bushels.

Warren Mettlen, Coop manager, said the need for more grain storage facilities here brought about plans for the elevator.

Last year, he said, total sales by the cooperative totaled $953,574.72.

"Sidney is known as the wheat capital of Nebraska and certainly should have greater grain storage facilities than the horse and buggy type we have now," Mettlen declared.

If the stockholders agree to the construction, the elevator would be the second new one in the area this year. Gurley's new 350,000 bushel elevator was dedicated Tuesday.

The elevator built by the Farmers Union Coop Association of Gurley, is the largest in this part of the state. It was built at a cost of $192,000.

Ashland Ex-Mayor Files For Unicam

O. J. Lohr, former mayor of Ashland, completed filing with the secretary of state for nomination to the legislature from the 17th district.

Lohr is the third to file in the district. The others are Sen. O. H. Person of Wahoo, the incumbent, and Claude D. Lutton, Ashland.

Sen. Herbert J. Duis of Gothenburg filed for re-election from the 38th district. He is opposed so far.

Gas Hospitalizes Five, 100 Persons Treated

POMONA, Calif. (AP)—Poisonous gas, released by a raging chemical fire that flamed brightly multi-colored hues Friday, hospitalized four firemen and a policeman and sent nearly 100 other persons for emergency treatment.

One of the firemen, Capt. John Ed Hoopell, 43, was reported in critical condition from inhaling the fumes of parathion—a substance similar to the military's so-called nerve gas.

Parathion is used in fumigating citrus orchards. It was released in a fire and explosions which leveled the half-block long warehouse of the Charles E. Duggan Co. The owner estimated his loss at $200,000.

Postal Meet Favors New Resolutions

Delegates attending the National Association of Post Office and General Service Maintenance Employees District 8 convention at the Cornhusker Hotel went on record Friday favoring five resolutions and five constitutional changes.

Two of the resolutions dealt with changes in the computation of the association's retirement annuity. The delegates asked that the annuity be based on a standard of two and one-half times the number of years of service instead of the present one and one-half standard. The delegates also asked that the three highest-salaried years be used as an average instead of the five highest-salaried years.

Double Time

Employees called from home for emergency services should be compensated with double time, according to the third resolution. The delegates demanded that the General Services Administration be compelled through legislation or executive order to use moneys designated for salaries for that purpose, barring the administration from transferring such funds to other budget needs.

The major constitutional change would conform the association's districts with that of the 15 new districts set up by the Post Office in its new decentralization plan.

The resolutions will be presented for vote at the national convention in Detroit in August. On Saturday, officers will be nominated and elected.

Ousted Justice Clark Sues For A Passport

WASHINGTON (INS)—William Clark, ousted U.S. Chief Justice for Germany, filed suit in Federal Court to force the State Department to grant him a passport for a return trip to Europe.

The former judge charged in his civil suit that Secretary Dulles and other State Department officials have repeatedly turned down his passport application and have acted in an "arbitrary, capricious" manner to deprive him of his freedom of speech.

Nebraska's Butler

It is not surprising that Nebraska's Senator Hugh Butler finds himself slightly confused back in Washington. He has a lot of company these days.

The news columns record that Senator Butler has joined hands with Virginia's conservative Democratic Senator Harry Byrd to oppose Mr. Eisenhower's request for an increase in the national debt limitation. Senator Butler feels that despite Secretary Humphrey and the Eisenhower budget bureau Uncle Sam can get along without any debt increase by simply cutting appropriations, particularly Senator Butler says in the field of foreign aid.

With an eye on Nebraska votes he is talking good politics if not sound business practice.

We have assumed that Mr. Eisenhower's request to hike the ceiling on the national debt from 275 billions to 290 billions was based upon a serious, careful study of money requirements of the immediate future. Senator Butler says it is not necessarily true.

But a little matter of this type will not prevent the good senator, without even so much as blinking his eyes, to exhort his fellow Nebraskans to elect Republicans to Congress in order to uphold the hands of Mr. Eisenhower. That kind of a performance indelibly stamps a man as being the fortunate possessor of an ideal poker face.

The trustees often turn out to be well-meaning business men who are somewhat glib in social and economic matters and no match for quick-witted and sharply-trained Communists.

We are not so naive as to fail to recognize that possibly some of these amazing philanthropies embrace a desire to evade the punishing estate taxes which are a part of our times. Carnegie, at least, died before estate rates became so crushing.

Yet Carnegie, if we are to accept the Herald's thesis at 100 per cent of face value, did not give a hoot about peace or library facilities for sources of American communities, including some in Nebraska, but wanted to duck estate taxes. John D. Rockefeller, looked upon by some as the encrusted oil tycoon of the oil industry, was not concerned about the ravages of disease, or any of the other ills of mankind but had the sole thought of avoiding estate taxes upon his accumulation after he was dead. Crusty old Henry Ford, we are asked to believe never experienced even a single tinge of compassion for humanity but in establishing the Ford Foundation rubbed his hands in glee in the knowledge he had taken care of the estate taxes upon his fabled millions.

Is there any need for additional evidence of how far we have gone to the extreme in this country? There are times when what is written or spoken does not do credit to the kindergarten class.

Safety Takes People

Research laboratories have been busy over the years trying to build safety into automobiles. They have made countless improvements. But the accident rate goes on unaffected.

Not too long ago the students of safety came to the conclusion that glare on windshields at night was a real menace to safety. So they devised tinted glass and it fought a good fight against glare. Notwithstanding, cars kept colliding. Now additional research reveals that while tinted glass reduces glare it also reduces vision. It appears that research is finding itself in a vicious circle.

The answer seems to be that no laboratory can protect imprudent people against themselves. Thoughtful people long ago reduced the glare caused by their headlights by pressing the foot button that manufacturers earlier added to cars to throw the headlight beams down. That takes care of most of the glare and the matter of clear vision, too. But it takes thoughtful people to do it. Highway courtesy has improved greatly in recent years but there are still far too many night drivers who forget that little footboard button.

Editorial Of The Day

Backsliders

From The Denver Post

Upheavals like World War II may change the face of the world, but it is apparently naive to trust that they alter the basic natures of the world's peoples. Disquieting reports of Fascist developments keep coming from both Germany and Japan, two countries presumably "reformed" and "liberated" by conquest and defeat of their former Fascist regimes.

The European director of the American Jewish committee charged last week that pro-Fascist and anti-Semitic emigre organizations are operating in West Germany, particularly in Bavaria. They are outspoken and self-disciplined, beyond the legal powers of both the Bonn and the Bavarian state governments, and allegedly get some of their support from the U.S.

The Nazis were remarkably effective in indoctrinating Germany's teachers, and many today were once members of the Nazi party, even if they became so only to keep their jobs. The fact that Germany's once flourishing Jewish community has been decimated to a mere 25,000, with an average age of nearly 60, makes the continuance of anti-Semitism there even more pathetic and reprehensible. The authoritarian spirit of the people prevails in educational and community life even though democracy is again, theoretically, the order.

DREW PEARSON

World Peace Is Job Of New Generation

AMHERST, Mass. —It's funny how kids grow up...on second thought it isn't so funny after all; it's chiefly funny that we don't realize they've grown up...It seems only yesterday that an eight-year-old boy went with me to Deerfield, Mass., to see his sister graduate from school. On the way I bought him a bow and arrow to keep him occupied, and during the graduation ceremony he entertained envious youngsters of his age and older by shooting, with remarkable accuracy, at the trees of a near-by orchard...Now, just a few days ago, in what seems like the span of only a few months, I came up to this same part of Massachusetts to watch the same youngster file past the college president, past a platform of cap-and-gown dignitaries, past the milestone of maturity, to receive a diploma and go out into an uncertain world.

I would not be writing about these personal things, except, first, I get tired of writing about the machinations of men in Washington; and second, a lot of sons of a lot of parents are filing past other presidents or school principals right now, also to face an uncertain world. And I couldn't help think, as I watched the long line of 230 young men, tall, good-looking—William Wilson Taft of the Tafts of Ohio; Socrates Nicholas Tsoukarakis, son of a Greek immigrant; Shigeru Okumura, who came all the way from Japan; Fred Culver, great-grandson of an African slave—I couldn't help but think that this cross-section of America in a few years would be leading America...And I also hoped they would do a better job than their elders.

UNCERTAIN YEARS

Most in that long line were born in uncertain times—the depression year of 1932. The birth rate was low then. People couldn't afford to have many children. The banks closed shortly after they were born. Men were selling apples on street corners...A bonus army of unemployed veterans camped outside the Capital on the night the particular young man I came up to Amherst to see was born. And for the first time in our history, the three drawbridges across the Anacostia River were raised to prevent a threatening crowd of Americans from entering their own capital.

Those were uncertain times when these youngsters came into the world. Yet no more uncertain than the times they face as they now go out into the world...Here at home we have improved things a bit since 1932. We have built better safeguards against unemployment, against bank failure, against old-age poverty...But we have done little about war...In the line of gowned faculty which marched in the graduation ceremony were mixed the blue uniforms of air force officers, the ROTC instructors who have already trained half of that long line of youngsters for war. The other half will report to draft boards immediately...And I could not help but wonder as I watched the line—solemn, tall, dignified—file up to get those coveted sheepskins, how many of them a year from now would be in the steaming jungles of Indo-China or squashing through the rice paddies of Siam...I could not help but think, also, that the trouble with France today is that 1,000,000 of her young men were killed in World War I, the cream of her manhood, the youngsters who, if alive today, would be leading France...When you sacrifice that number of men from any nation, it loses its vitality, faces bankruptcy.

LACK OF LEADERSHIP

I couldn't help but think also that we who are supposed to lead the nation have been tragic failures when it comes to war...God knows, most of us have tried. As I look back on the friendship trains, the CARE packages, the exchange of students, the hope and good will which most of the American people have sent abroad, I think most of us have tried...But we forget that peace is a much harder goal to achieve than war. War is easy to fall into, though not so easy to win...Peace is different.

It's like marriage. You have to keep working at it. The hardest days begin after the peace treaty is signed and after the ink is dry on the marriage license. Unfortunately, we, the people, are inclined to get discouraged. We listen to rabble-rousers.

We listen to those who would divide: to the hate-mongers, to the intolerance-creeders and the suspicion-spreaders. We have been more concerned of late with the 25,000 Communists in this country, whom J. Edgar Hoover says he has under control, than about the gradual drift of the rest of the world toward distrust of us.

So we're going to increase the armed forces again. We're going to vote more billions for the military. And within a year, Vice President Nixon's prediction may come to pass—that the young men who get out of the schools and colleges this June will find themselves in Southeast Asia...I hope the young men, when they get a little older, and become the leaders of the nation, will do better than we have. I hope they'll carry out the recent campaign pledges to get behind the Iron Curtain, the pledges to woo the peoples behind the Iron Curtain away from Communist creeds and Kremlin masters. I hope they'll realize that the seeds of war are planted through ideas, and that their elders have been miserably failures in that it comes to counteracting Kremlin ideas and cultivating democracy ideas.

I hope they will not transfer the most efficient and popular ambassador we have ever sent to India, Chester Bowles, just at a time when India is the key to our battles in the Orient...I hope they will not appoint a very charming but welcome lady as ambassador to Italy just on the eve of a crucial election to defeat Communism and despite strong hints from the Italian government that she is not wanted...But above all, I hope our new leaders will not be discouraged, and will repeatedly remind the American people that the way to keep the peace and prevent war is not to get disintegrated, disunited.

Those are some of the things I couldn't help thinking as I watched that long line of young men...A boy who entered his sister's friends with a bow and arrow just a few short years ago. Carefree boys only the night before, now solemn and dignified in cap and gown, file past the college president to receive their diplomas, their certificates of leadership in this uncertain world.

In Step With The Sower

"Politics is the most muddled I have seen it in many a year," remarked a veteran G.O.P. politico in trying to explain the gloom of party workers as to chances of success in the off-year elections.

He pointed out that while party leaders staunchly announce that they support the Eisenhower policies, many of them do it "with tongue in cheek" because polls continue to show a high per cent of personal popularity for the President among those who voted for him.

One party official told friends, he says, that they cannot approve what the President and Secretary Dulles call foreign policy. "It's too bad that Sen. Taft did and we have no one to guide national policy," he quoted them as saying.

The politico pointed out that Republicans of the state have no leader around whom the party can rally.

"There are the loyal Eisenhower followers," he said. "Then, we have those who still cling to the memory of Sen. Taft and the views he entertained."

"A sizeable group follow the isolationist views of McCormick of Chicago and Sens. McCarthy and Dirksen."

"Not only do they disagree on a national policy, but no single state leader appears able to unite the factions locally," he continued.

He pointed out that these differences are clearly pictured in the race for the United States Senate.

"Dave Martin of Kearney appears to be the favorite of the ultra-conservative group," he said. "It was this group he explained that approved Martin's selection of McCarthy for keynote speaker at the pre-primary convention."

A THOUGHT FOR THE SABBATH

Stories Of Famous Hymns

Shall We Meet?

Shall we meet beyond the river,
Where the surges cease to roll?
Where in all the bright forever,
Sorrow n'er shall press the soul?

Shall we meet in that blest harbor,
When our stormy voyage is o'er?
Shall we meet and cast the anchor
By the fair, celestial shore?

Shall we meet in yonder city,
Where the towers of crystal shine?
Where the walls are all of Jasper,
Built by workmanship divine?

Shall we meet with Christ our Saviour,
When life comes to claim His own?
Shall we know His blessed favor,
And sit down upon His throne?

By HORACE B. POWELL

In mission services, evangelistic programs and prayer-meetings across America, this gospel hymn has been a favorite for three-quarters of a century. Its words were written about the middle of the nineteenth century by Horace L. Hastings and its music was composed several years after the poem appeared by Ellis S. Rice who at the time of the composition was serving as secretary and chorister of a Logansport, Ind., Sunday school.

Mr. Rice turned out this hymn tune in 1866 and sent it to the Rev. Robert Lowry, another gospel hymn composer, who was editing the music department of "The Young Reaper", a Philadelphia Sunday School paper. Mr. Lowry liked the poem and its music and published it in his magazine.

It was more than a dozen years later, however, before Mr. Rice discovered that the hymn, with his music, was in general use and popular with song leaders and audiences. It was Ira D. Sankey, the singing evangelist who told him. Mr. Sankey praised the hymn tune in a letter to the composer in August, 1876, and later Mr. Hastings, the author of the poem also sent Mr. Rice an approving message.

Not So Funny?

Kearney, Neb.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: It's funny, except that it is tragic. A well known Nebraska legislator recently revealed that he will not be a candidate for Congress. He said he had some money of his own to spend: two or three thousand dollars, but the necessary balance of several more thousand had not been offered by friends or interested parties.

Here in the land of Bryan, Norris and Kinkaid, all poor men, it appears that now only two classes of men can run for Congress. First, a man with money of his own, say $10,000 to spend, and who therefore wears his own collar. Second, a poor man, so poor he has no collar, who must have several thousand spent for him, and who thereby acquires perhaps a collar that is not good for him nor his constituents.

Funny, isn't it; except that it is tragic. The fact is that under the wide-open Nebraska primary, only a man with money of his own can emerge from such a rat-race with his hide and his complete independence.

This doesn't seem fair nor right. But that's the way it is in the summer of 1954. How long will Nebraska continue with a political primary that requires either rich men for Congress or poor men who have been financed by rich men who expect something for their investment.

Must the yardstick of the ballot this year be the measure of financial independence in order to insure political independence? Maybe that is the rule for the voter in 1954, but it shouldn't be in the future.

EDGAR A. GUEST

—Poet Of The People—

"I'll lend you for a little time a child of mine." He said.
"For you to love the while she lives, and mourn for when she's dead."
It may be six or seven years, or twenty-two or three.
But will you, till I call her back, take care of her for me?
She'll bring her charms to gladden you, and shall her slay be brief.
You'll have her lovely memories as solace for your grief.

"I cannot promise she will stay, since all from earth return. But there are lessons taught down there I want this child to learn.
I've looked the wide world over in my search for teachers true
And from the throngs that crowd life's lanes I have selected you.
Now will you give her all your love, nor think the labor vain.

Nor hate me when I come to call to take her back again?"
I fancied that I heard them say: "Dear Lord, Thy will be done!"

For all the joy Thy child shall bring, the risk of grief we'll run.
We'll shelter her with tenderness, we'll love her while we may.
And for the happiness we've known forever grateful stay:
But shall the angels call for her, sooner than we've planned.

We'll brave the bitter grief that comes and try to understand."

Churchill Visit Can Give U.S. New Policy

WASHINGTON—The visit here of Winston Churchill and Anthony Eden will give President Eisenhower a chance to pick up the pieces of his foreign policy and start again.

Conceivable leaders of the Congress can be brought into the picture in such a way as to remove that issue from the coming congressional campaign. All the responsible ones have been worried and confused by the gyrations of the administration with respect to Southeast Asia, beginning with the Nixon speech to the editors. They have long been waiting for a fresh start and clearly-stated goals.

Early in this administration, House Democratic leader Sam Rayburn pledged the President the support of 90 per cent of the Democrats for foreign policy goals to which Eisenhower would commit his own prestige. The President seemed then to fear even such an old friend bringing political gifts. Yet it is a promise which wants only White House action to be renewed. And Democratic senators, who have been demanding clarification of foreign policy, can be counted on to back it when they learn what it is.

In this area, as elsewhere, the President has not spoken out so forcefully that other voices, in his own administration and in Congress, could be put into perspective. Right now, for example, Admiral Arthur Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, is making speeches on and off the record in behalf of aggressive action in Asia, starting with a naval blockade of China and ending, if need be, with troops. Radford, claims he can get the troops from the Philippines, Korea and Formosa.

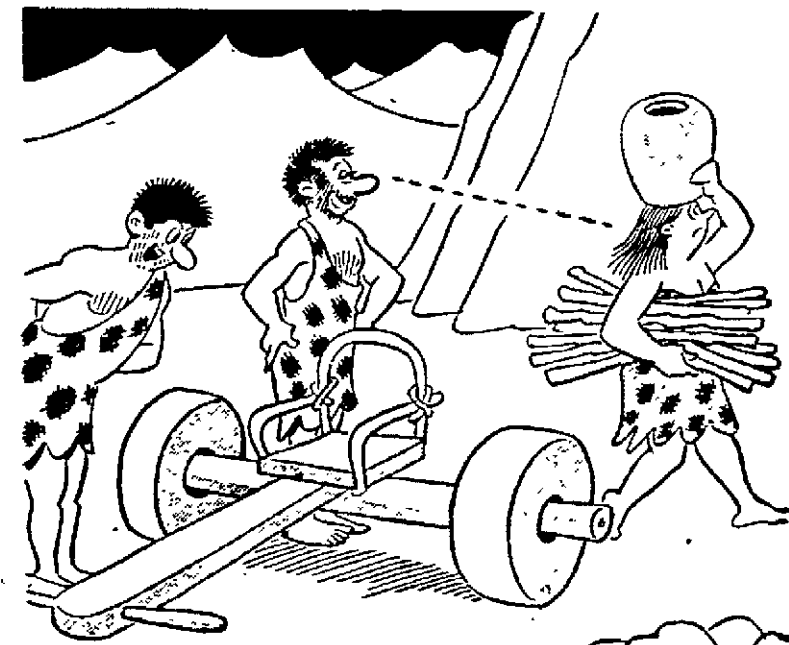

Congressmen pick up their ears, knowing that Radford stands well at the White House. Yet they know, too, that Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, at a crucial moment in Indo-China, backed away from Radford and accepted the British point of view that the risks were too great.

Like all the free world, Congress entertains a deep sentiment for Churchill; it will give the last of the great men a fitting reception. But the days when Churchill and Roosevelt could decide are done for. Today Eisenhower and Churchill cannot decide.

Tornado Claims Life Of Winside Woman

Northeast Cleanup Is Under Way

Pilger, Wakefield And Wayne Areas Also Hit

WINSIDE, Neb. (INS) — Northeast Nebraska counted one dead Friday after a turbulent night during which a flurry of twisters lashed out at rural areas in three counties. Cleanup work began Friday.

The storm victim was 67-year-old Mrs. Bertha Nelson, who died at a doctor's office in Winside Friday of injuries suffered when one of the tornadoes demolished her farm home about three miles southeast of Winside. Her son, Nels, suffered eye and arm injuries.

The twisters — reports indicated there may have been as many as seven — struck about 16 farmsteads in Wayne, Thurston and Stanton counties. It was the second such occurrence in three weeks.

Six persons were killed in neighboring Madison County on May 30 in another series of tornadoes.

The most destructive of Thursday night's funnel clouds was one that touched down near Pilger. An empty schoolhouse north of the town was wrecked and seven farms were destroyed or heavily damaged. The farm occupants escaped injury by taking refuge in storm cellars.

House 'Explodes' — The twister which struck the Nelson farm caused the house to "explode," according to the injured son. He said both he and his mother were carried some distance. All buildings on the farm were leveled.

Heavy rain accompanied the disturbances, ranging up to 2.88 inches at Wayne and two and one-half inches at Wakefield.

Communications and power lines were snarled in some areas.

In the Pilger area, the farm owned by Mrs. Frank Glover was badly damaged. With her five children, Mrs. Glover, a widow of two months, sought refuge in a cave. All of the buildings except the hog house and corn crib were demolished.

Other farms damaged in the Pilger area were those of Herbert and Emil Gephke, Mrs. Mary Koehmoos, Alan Glove, Lavern Heller and August Matthes.

In an area eight and a half miles west of Pilger six farms were reported as feeling the effects of the storm. Five were identified as those of Eldon Stewart, Rudolph Kai, Emil Kai, August Kai and Ted Kai.

Civil Defense Workers Aid In Storm Area

Deputy state Civil Defense Administrator Austin Bacon said Friday members of the Elkhorn Valley mobile support group from Norfolk, Wayne and West Point responded to a call from Winside for workers to do police duty in the area hit by Thursday night's tornado.

It was the first time Civil Defense personnel had given such service, he explained.

Bacon expressed satisfaction with the response and said the Civil Defense organization is ready to give assistance under similar circumstances in the future.

Another agency received praise Friday from Governor Crosby in connection with air given tornado-hit areas.

The governor said one of the first calls he receives when there has been such an emergency in the state is from Vernon Zimmerman of the Red Cross.

Often it is the first word he has that there is an emergency, the governor declared.

State Bar Group Still Undecided On Palmer Case

OMAHA (P) — Deliberations in the hit-run incident involving Omaha Municipal Judge Lester Palmer last December have reached the advisory committee of the Nebraska Bar Assn., Raymond M. Crossman Sr., a member said Friday.

"The matter has been under consideration for a few weeks but no final decision has been made," said Crossman, who noted that actions of the committee while it is deliberating must be kept secret until a decision is reached.

Judge Palmer served five days in the Douglas County jail last December. He is scheduled to appear in Municipal Court in Council Bluffs, Iowa, next Tuesday morning on a drunkenness charge. He was arrested in Manawa State Park last Monday night.

This Is How It's Done

Seriousness Of Battle Against Insect Pests Told To Farmers

The more than 200 farmers who attended the annual Crops and Soils Day at the College of Agriculture were given an idea of just how serious the battle against insect pests has become. Dr. Roscoe Hill, entomologist, said the present crop loss caused by insects amounts to 10 per cent or more of our annual production.

"Of the 700,000 different species of insects that have been described, probably less than 6,000 are of economic importance," Hill said. "Economic troubles arise when the interests of man and the insects conflict. This conflict results from the fact that insects, in wanting the same things we do, destroy our food, injure our health and our livestock and damage our homes and possessions."

The size of the insect population is demonstrated by findings in a field near Lincoln. There were 300,564 alfalfa plant bugs and 588,060 lygus bugs per acre. This count didn't include such insects as leafhoppers, thrips, caterpillars, grasshoppers and several other plant feeding species which would have swelled the count to over 1,500,000.

Fertilizer Use Told — Another speaker, Dr. M. D. Weldon, extension agronomist, gave farmers practical information on the use of fertilizer this fall. In discussing the application of phosphate fertilizer on legumes, grasses and small grains, Dr. Weldon said, with one exception, phosphate should be on the ground when the seed is planted.

T. M. McCalla, USDA agronomist at the College of Agriculture, told farmers of the importance of the crop of living organisms beneath the soil surface.

"In each spoonful of soil there are more living organisms than there are people on the face of the earth," he said. The estimated weight of these organisms in an acre of land is 3 to 5 tons — a weight that compares favorably with the crop generally grown above the ground."

During the afternoon program, the farmers observed a demonstration at the Agronomy Farm showing five different methods of applying nitrogen fertilizer on corn. The nitrogen in all cases was applied as a side dressing. The five nitrogen carriers used were ammonium sulfate, ammonium nitrate, solution "32", solution "41", and anhydrous ammonia.

Aid To Friends Only Advocated By Gov. Crosby

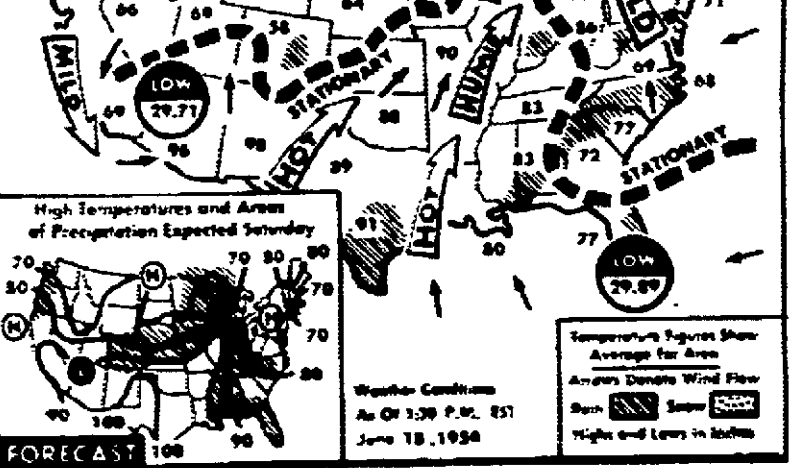

PURDUM, Neb. (P) — Gov. Robert Crosby, in his first major talk on foreign affairs since he became a U.S. Senatorial candidate, said Friday that this country's program of supplying economic and military supply aid "should be sharply restricted to those countries who are solid friends of the United States."

"I am proud of the extent to which our administration already has reduced foreign aid along the lines I have expressed," the governor declared at a gathering of the Purdum Project Club.

"We are getting better military results with less expenditure of money," said Gov. Crosby, who seeks the full-term senatorial nomination on the Republican ticket.

"We have come to the time when we will have to limit what we do to what we can afford."

The speech was titled "Foreign Affairs Are Our Affairs."

Rainy, But Just As Hot As Ever — Rainy weather is forecast through Central Plains. Western Lakes states, Western Gulf states, Florida peninsula, Ohio valley and North Carolina Saturday. Little or no precipitation is expected over balance of U.S. It will turn warmer in middle Atlantic states and Northern Rockies, while Lakes states will be cooler. Little important temperature changes are expected elsewhere. (AP Wirephoto)

York College Supported By State E.U.B.

LINCOLN STAR SPECIAL — The Nebraska Conference of the Evangelical United Brethren Church Friday voted continued support of York College at York.

The action came as a climax of the annual session here, and support was approved by a vote of 96 to 55. In a statement the conference pointed out that the effect of this vote was to instruct the trustees of the conference at York College to vote for continuance of that institution.

Finances Read — Dr. A. W. Howland, president of York College, read a statement presenting some of the financial facts of the last few years. He declared that it would be necessary to collect gifts totaling $60,000 yearly from surrounding states if the college is to continue.

Wood Will Not Run For Office

GERING, Neb. (P) — Warren C. Wood, publisher of the Gering Courier, field commander of the Nebraska National Guard and well known in Nebraska Republican circles, will not be a candidate for the GOP nomination for governor.

The Gering publisher was first mentioned as a candidate before Gov. Crosby declared himself in the Republican Senate nomination race. Wood said he would not run against Crosby.

Later, when Crosby ruled himself out of the governor's race, Wood's possible candidacy gained new stature.

Wood had no comment about those bidding for the nomination except:

Gibbon Farm Man Will Speak Sunday At Morrison Rally

LINCOLN STAR SPECIAL — DORCHESTER, Neb. — Fred S. Wallace, Gibbon farmer, will speak Sunday afternoon at 2 p.m. at a Morrison-for-Congress rally to be held at the Tabor Hall south of here.

Wallace, prominent in agricultural organizations and an advisor to the federal government in agricultural affairs, will speak on "What 90 Per Cent of Parity Means to the Farmer and Business Man."

The program will also include introduction of candidates for county offices, and music and entertainment.

Mrs. Chappell, 94, Of Minden Is Dead

LINCOLN STAR SPECIAL — MINDEN, Neb. — Mrs. Anna Chappell, 94, pioneer resident of Kearney County, died at her home in Minden after a lengthy illness.

She had lived in the county since 1884. Her husband, M. W. Chappell, died in 1925.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Frank H. Reinsch of Los Angeles; and four sons, Charles A. of Minden, Kearney County attorney; Ross of Denver, Dr. J. R. of Hastings, and Dr. W. E., mayor of Minden.

Jeanette McDonald, Veteran Teacher, Dies

OMAHA (P) — Miss Jeanette McDonald, 82, veteran Omaha teacher and retired dean of girls at Technical High School, died Friday.

Miss McDonald was in the Omaha public school system for 44 years. An early leader of the Omaha Educators Assn., she was president in 1924 and 1925.

State Practical Nurse Convention Next Week

OMAHA (P) — The Practical Nurse Association of Nebraska will hold its fourth annual convention here June 23-24.

"Advance registrations, particularly from out state nurses, indicate that this will be the largest convention in the history of the association," said Mrs. Ada S. Davinhill, president.

Sutton Driver Dies In Crash

LINCOLN STAR SPECIAL — SUTTON, Neb. — Funeral services for Reinhold Kauk, Sutton resident killed in a two-car crash near here, will be held at 2:30 p.m. Sunday in the Hope Reformed Church here.

Clay County Sheriff Henry Hoyt reported Kauk lost his life in the collision of his car and another passenger car a mile southeast of Sutton.

A passenger in the Kauk car, Herbert Kauk, 60, brother of Reinhold, was hospitalized with rib and chest fractures and lung injuries. He was taken to a Hastings hospital where his condition was reported fair Friday.

The sheriff said the Kauk car collided with one driven by Mrs. Irvin Miller of Geneva at a county road intersection. Mrs. Miller and her three passengers were shaken up but not seriously injured, Hoyt said.

Kauk's death was the 127th in Nebraska this year compared with 108 at this time last year.

Kauk, who formerly farmed near here, was a lifetime resident of this vicinity. His survivors include his wife, Clara, and two sons, Kenneth of Saronville and Raymond, who lives in California.

The Rock Island announcement pin-pointed the economics of the move this way:

"The new train will be half the weight per passenger of the present type of streamlined equipment, with the result that its operating costs will be much reduced."

These particulars were given:

The "Jet Rocket" will have four cars. Each car will be made up of three articulated units. Each car will have an over-all

The train will seat about 300 passengers. The cars will be of stainless steel, mounted on steel frames.

Top speed will be 100 mph., but the main time factor will be the quick pickup and the train's ability to take curves at high speed because of its underslung design.

Delivery is expected in December.

The State Liquor Commission has under consideration the off-sale beer license application of Howard Fox and Harry L. Jean which the Kearney City Council rejected because of its location across the street from the State Tuberculosis Hospital.

It was then explained that Nimms was not attempting to negotiate sale of the other license and that neither he nor Jean realized that licenses cannot be sold under state law.

Thompson, under whom Mr. Eisenhower served as chief of staff just before World War II. Thompson, who died at the age of 70, was in command of the Third Division and the First U. S. U.S. Beats Russia's Air Power

Soviet Has Numbers; Yankee Planes Better

OMAHA (AP)—Russia may have more planes, but the United States has more air power, Maj. Gen. Reginald C. Harmon, judge advocate of the Air Force, said Friday.

"They have at least 20,000 combat airplanes, which is more active combat airplanes than we have in sheer numbers," he said. "However, in the air we outweigh the Soviets in capability at the present time because of our superior planes and weapons."

Gen. Harmon, who addressed the convention of the Reserve Officers Assn., said he was speaking for Gen. Nathan Twining, Air Force Chief of Staff.

Fear Air Attack

"It is from the air and only from the air that the Soviets fear attack," he went on. "It is only from the air that war-making potential can be destroyed."

Civil Defense Administrator Val Peterson told the group that American ground force reserves are "not going anywhere" the morning after an enemy atomic attack.

The Strategic Air Command and certain elements of the Navy will be moving, he said, "but we are not going to mount an expeditionary force for months after that kind of attack."

Weaver Seeks Sixth Term As Engineer

Lancaster County Engineer Louis W. Weaver has filed for a sixth full term of office on the Republican ticket.

In filing Friday for re-election as county surveyor, official title of the elected officer, Weaver also seeks the ex-officio positions of county engineer and commissioner.

In seeking re-election, he would continue development of county roads along past policies.

"To date the county has 1,200 miles of all-weather surfacing on the 1,500 miles in the county," he said.

Weaver is a civil engineer graduate of the University of Nebraska and a registered engineer. He is on the State Board of Examiners for Professional Engineers and Architects.

90% of Juvenile Cases Uncontested In Local Courts

NORTH PLATTE (AP)—In about 90 per cent of the 300 to 400 juvenile delinquency cases handled in Lincoln each year, the charge is uncontested and juveniles are sentenced without the calling in of witnesses or presentation of much evidence.

District Judge John Polk of Lincoln made that statement at a two-day convention of Nebraska District Judges which ended here Friday.

Judge Polk recommended that judges proceed in juvenile cases just as in any other criminal cases.

He was reporting on recent decisions made in District Court in Douglas, Lancaster and Seward counties and appealed and reversed by the Supreme Court because, Judge Polk said, evidence had been insufficient for conviction.

Thirty of the 35 district judges in the state attended the convention. Judge Arthur Thomsen of Omaha is president of the group.

50 Stitches Don't Change His Mind

Never let it be said Frank C. Henderson of Chicago isn't a persistent man when it comes to catching a ride on the rods.

Henderson, 53, was picked up Friday after the second time after he unexpectedly left St. Elizabeth Hospital where he was treated for a wound that required 50 stitches in his scalp.

He got the injuries when his head was caught between a freight door and the car itself.

Undaunted, Henderson left the hospital when he got his strength back—and headed again for the freight yards. This time, however, he lost a half-mile foot race with railroad detectives and was promptly lodged in city jail.

Yanks Sentenced

TOKYO (Saturday) (INS)—Two American sailors and one airman were sentenced to 10-to-18 month prison terms by a Japanese court for the theft of slightly more than $100 worth of camera and recording equipment from a Tokyo store last March. However, all three sentences were suspended by the Tokyo District Court in view of the fact the men returned the stolen items.

Saturday Sessions

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republican leader Knowland (Calif.) said the Senate recess Saturday may be the last on Saturday until Congress quits. He made an exception for the July 4th week end. "We probably must hold Saturday sessions from now on in order to keep the decks cleared," Knowland told reporters.

MISS SHIRLEY HINES

Ex-Nebraskan Still Missing

CHICAGO, Ill.—There were no new developments Friday in the search for Miss Shirley Hines, 22, formerly of Omaha and Alliance, who disappeared while swimming in Lake Michigan Tuesday night.

Miss Hines was an excellent swimmer and had once been swimming instructor at the Alliance pool.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace W. Hines of Alliance, she was graduated from high school there.

She attended the University of Nebraska in 1950-51 as a student in the College of Arts and Sciences.

She also attended Midland College and last year won a scholarship to Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill.

Employed as a secretary for the director of the Michael Reese Hospital cancer clinic, she attended night classes at Northwestern.

Miss Hines has two brothers, First Lt. Paul, 24, with the Army in Germany, and Ronald, 20, a junior at Doane College.

She has a grandmother, Mrs. Mary L. Kistler, and several uncles and aunts in Omaha.

Chicago Armour Firm Plant Fire Loss $500,000

CHICAGO (AP)—A fiery threat to Packing Town—the meat processing section of Chicago's huge stockyards area—was ended by firemen Friday after a three-hour struggle.

The fire broke out in a five-story Armour & Co. animal food plant on the west side of the yards district. The plant was turned into a charred ruin. The loss was placed at $500,000.

But hundreds of firemen, sweating in the heat of the fire and the torrid day, kept the blaze from spreading to other structures and stores of gas and chemicals.

At the peak of the fire tongues of flame and smoke licked up 150 feet in the air. The smoke could be seen for miles in any direction from the stockyards on the South Side.

Thirty-five workers were on duty in the animal food plant when the fire started, but all of them escaped.

The cause of the fire was not determined.

An eight million dollar fire roared through parts of the stockyards in May 1934.

Promise To Lift Yanks From War Zone—'Broken'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Stennis (D-Miss.) charged in effect Friday that the Defense Department has violated what he called a "solemn promise" to remove 200 U. S. Air Force mechanics from Indo-China by June 12.

Keeping these technicians close to the war zone, he said, could lead to a situation in which the United States would have "little or no choice" either to get involved in the war or "retire without honor."

In a speech to the Senate, Stennis said he had received a letter from Secretary of Defense Wilson which, together with statements on the floor of the Senate last February by Sen. Saltonstall (R-Mass.), left only "one reasonable interpretation": that the mechanics would be withdrawn and not replaced.

New information, Stennis said, discloses that the Air Force has allowed "volunteers" to stay in Indo-China and "has replaced" some of those who have left with mechanics recruited from the Far East Air Force.

It now appears, Stennis said, "that some of these men have been kidnapped or captured." He referred to news reports that five such men have disappeared and may be in Communist hands.

In February Saltonstall told the Senate the Defense Department had assured him all 200 mechanics would be out of Indo-China by June 12.

Statler Sale For 76 Million OK'd

NEW YORK (INS)—The Statler Hotel chain board of directors approved Friday financial terms of William Zuckendorf's offer to buy for 76 million dollars—all the Statler assets including eight hotels now in operation and two being built.

Arthur F. Douglas, president of Hotels Statler Co., said Zuckendorf's proposal to buy all outstanding Statler stock at $30 a share would be submitted to stockholders for approval.

There are 1,521,985 Statler shares outstanding. The stock closed at 43 Friday on the New York market.

'No Private Practice In County Office' Vowed As Johnston Files

Elimination of private law practice in the county attorney's office was pledged by Miles W. Johnston, 47-year-old Lincoln attorney, as he completed his filing for nomination on the Republican ticket for county attorney.

Johnston stated that if elected, he would give his time first to county business. If there is any time left for private practice, he said, it will be done in a private office, not at the County House.

Another part of Johnston's program calls for "strict enforcement" of child support judgment payments by husbands against whom a child support judgment has been rendered so as to relieve the taxpayers of this costly burden.

Too many husbands, derelict in support payments, Johnston said, are left unprosecuted. The families of these husbands, he said, then go on the relief rolls to be supported by taxpayers. Johnston also promised "a

Nabbed Man Linked With Brinks Case

BOSTON (INS)—Police said Friday night that an alleged professional New York killer, seized in the wake of an underworld upheaval, was a messenger of terror or death—for profit or revenge—in those Boston suspects in the big Brinks and Danvers robberies.

They identified the reputed hired killer as Elmer "Trigger" Burke, 37, wanted in connection with six New York murders.

He was nabbed without a struggle by rookie patrolman Frank Crawford, 31, during a police sweep of the Back Bay following a tip from District Atty. Frank Hogan of Manhattan that Burke was in Boston "on business."

Detectives declined to be quoted on their theories as to Burke's exact "business" in Boston. But in his Back Bay lodging house room they found a sub-machinegun, which they established was used in the gun battle Wednesday in Dorchester. Five loaded pistols and a quantity of ammunition.

The third is John Henry Carlson, who has been unusually content to remain in a cell in the Fields Corner police station after he was picked up as a possible participant in the gun fight. He made no move to gain freedom.

Ernest Isaacson Dies Here At 63

Ernest G. Isaacson, 63, Rt. 6, a farmer here since 1940, died Friday at a local hospital.

Born at Malmo, Neb., he lived in Wahoo, Ceresco and Central City before coming here.

Mr. Isaacson was a veteran of World War I and a member of First Presbyterian Church.

Surviving are his wife, Ruby; brothers, Herman of Tacoma, Wash., Oscar of Ceresco and Axel of Superior, Wis., and sisters, Mrs. Augusta Pearson of Portland, Ore., Mrs. Hulda Anderson of Superior, Wis., and Mrs. Otto Zimmerman of Wahoo.

Ike Makes Bid To France For New United Defense Discussion

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower made a dramatic bid to the new government of France Friday for "new discussions" on formation of a united defense against Communist forces in Indo-China. He also urged France to ratify the proposed European Defense Community (EDC) "while the opportunity still exists."

In a letter to French President Rene Coty, which the White House released, Eisenhower offered in effect to meet with French leaders in the same intimate and informal way as he will be meeting with Britain's Sir Winston Churchill and Anthony Eden here next week.

His message, announced about 24 hours after Pierre Mendes-France was chosen premier at Paris to succeed Joseph Laniel, appeared to contain both an offer of the closest possible co-operation with the new French regime and a warning that, at least so far as EDC is concerned, time is running out.

Dulles Warns

Secretary of State Dulles has repeatedly told the French that unless the European Defense Community Treaty, under which West Germany would rearm as part of a West European military force, is ratified the United States will have to re-examine its policies. Such a re-examination has in fact already begun in the State Department to determine

Parole Board To Hear 24

Hearings on clemency pleas will be heard from 24 persons at the meeting of the state parole board July 28. The board decided at its meeting. Half of the appeals come from penitentiary inmates and the other half from the men's reformatory.

Hall of the reformatory inmates to be heard were sentenced for obtaining money with worthless checks. Two had been charged with auto theft.

William Bowman, 40, serving a life sentence for first degree murder in Cheyenne county in 1937 is asking clemency. J. E. DeJardin, 42, muralist from Minnesota, serving a two year term for forgery in Cheyenne county also seeks a pardon. He has painted a number of murals in the penitentiary as a recreation time activity.

what defense plans may be feasible for Europe if EDC fails. U. S. officials in the past have been less than enthusiastic about the possibility that Mendes-France might become premier. He had generally been identified with the idea of peace at almost any price in Indo-China and he is not under an all-out commitment to win ratification of EDC. Officials said privately, however, that the United States would seek the utmost cooperation possible with the new French regime.

Mendes-France took office with a pledge to negotiate an Indo-China peace with the Communists by July 20 or resign. Meanwhile, however, he indicated he would take all necessary military measures to carry on the fight.

The President's letter called for a new start between France and the United States on the Indo-China problem though he made clear that the United States still stands behind its statements and conditions regarding the development of a united defense.

In his message Friday the President appeared to be saying that developments in the conflict, including the fall of Dien Bien Phu and the weakening military position on the French side in the Tonkin Delta, had created a "new situation" and that the whole problem should be tackled afresh in French-American talks, provided France remains interested.

Meet Star Carrier Roger Bowman

Roger Bowman, the Lincoln Star carrier-salesman in Burchard, Neb., has earned his route for over three years. During these three years, he has earned regular profits from his own business and been in a position to start a savings account, pay for his own recreational activities, and buy other things he has wanted.

At the present time, Roger is buying a car. He is a regular member of his school band.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth A. Bowman of Burchard, Roger is 13 years old and attends the Burchard Public School.

An excellent paper carrier, he has made many new friends along his route. He has earned an excellent reputation in his home town partly due to his traits of promptness and dependability while on his route.

For recreation, Roger likes fishing. Recently, he earned a fishing rod and reel outfit by gaining new subscribers on his route.

Roger, like the many other young carrier-salesmen in our country, is gaining valuable training in modern business procedures that will prove valuable to him in later life.

Mendes-France broadcast to the nation Friday night an appeal for moral support.

The time has come, he said, "to rid ourselves of our incredulities, of our divisions, of our timidities."

The 47-year-old son of a Jewish manufacturer of women's clothing, Mendes-France recorded the two-minute speech at his home for broadcast on the French National Network after a day of interviewing prospective ministers for his new cabinet.

It was generally believed he would act as his own foreign minister and might go to Geneva on Monday to carry on direct negotiations with the Communists for peace in Indo-China.

Red Demand Faced
GENEVA (AP)—France's new premier Pierre Mendes-France will face a Communist demand that French troops pull out of Indo-China as part of an armistice agreement when and if he comes to Geneva next week.

Red China's Chou En-lai and the Vietnamese Foreign Minister Pham Van Dong made this clear at a closed session of the Indo-China conference Friday. Both demanded that "all foreign troops" must be withdrawn simultaneously.

This could mean only French troops since Dong insisted there were no Vietnamese soldiers in Laos and Cambodia. There are only "resistance movements" in these two states, he said, describing them as "powerful facts".

Precipitation will average near one inch in the eastern portion to about two-thirds of an inch in the west, occurring as scattered showers or thunderstorms mostly early in the period.

Henry Man Files for No Promises, No Guarantees
GERING, Neb. (AP) — A third candidate for state senator from Scotts Bluff County, H. V. Anderson of Henry, filed nomination papers in the county clerk's office here Thursday.

Prior filings for the 42nd District Unicameral post were made by Amos (Mike) Morrison of Mitchell and Mayor Clark Williams of Scottsbluff. Terry Carpenter, present state senator from this district, isn't running for reelection, seeking instead a seat in the U. S. Senate.

Anderson, a merchant, farmer and livestock feeder, said he had

"no promises, no guarantees" to make when he was asked about his campaign plans. "I've never been in politics and if and when I go down to Lincoln, I'll have to study things as they come up and do the best job I can," he added.
